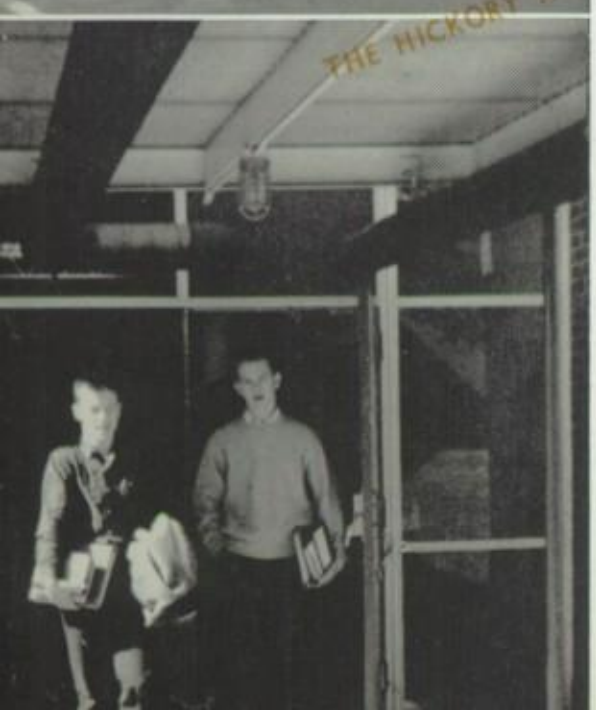
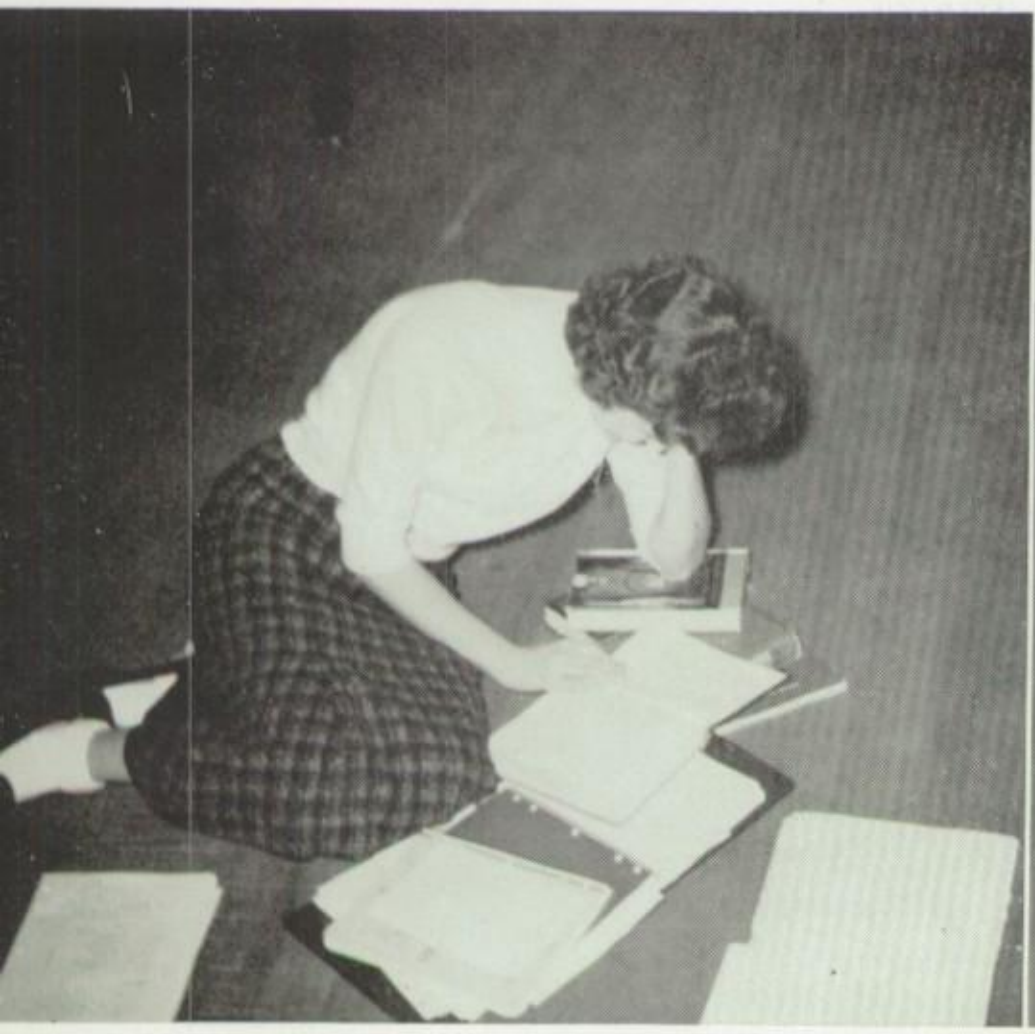
MRS. DORIS SIGMON
ADVISER



Today's student is faced with the pressure of being prepared for the new age in which he lives. He must be in step with both educational trends—math and science, and history, literature and the arts. He is responsible for the school's reputation and sportsmanship record. In his hands is the success of school organizations and activities. The teen-age student is expected to behave in an adult manner and always to be a good citizen in his school and community.

FOLLOW ME AND LET'S HAVE A LOOK AT WHAT CONFRONTS THE HICKORY HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT TODAY



Ann Hollar has gathered all her material to study for semester exams, being given for the first time in several years at H. H. S.

Henry Harrison and Judy Howard encourage Mrs. Lackey to sample the sandwiches the Student Council has made for the football team.

Joe Belk and Irma Scott are beginning their research papers.

Just before game time HHS cagers polish the skills developed during rigid practices.

Long-range planning and hard work produced a novel float for the music department. Tina Ormond and Gloria Gilbert smile at the crowd.

ONE WHO STANDS UP UNDER PRESSURE

To one who remains calm and serene during each school crisis, whose sense of humor never fails those around her, whose intelligence and high ideals are an inspiration to her students, whose friendliness makes the school a brighter place, whose diligence and devotion have helped win national honors for HHS's annual, we the students of Hickory High dedicate this 1958-59 Log to Mrs. Vivienne Stafford.

Always willing to help her students, Mrs. Stafford takes time out from Yard Duty to confirm an English assignment for Jeannie Thompson.

Mrs. Stafford finds that lunch in the cafeteria is a welcome break from the classroom routine.

QUALIFIED FACULTY, CLASSES TO FIT NEEDS IN OUR SCHOOL

YOUNG people of our time are trying to find a place where they really belong. At Hickory High there are classes to meet the needs of all students. College preparatory classes lay the foundations for those who plan to further their education. Vocational training and the development of skills help those who will be on their own after graduation. Practical courses enlighten future homemakers and drivers as well as develop musical talents. HHS's well rounded curriculum prepares students for the pressures of the future.

Dr. W. M. Jenkins enjoys his office in the new Hickory City Schools Administration Office building.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. W. M. Jenkins, who is serving his first year as superintendent of the Hickory City School system, received his B.S. degree from Wake Forest, his Master of Education from Duke, and his Doctor of Education from U.N.C. A civic leader, he is a member of the Episcopal Church of Hickory and the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Helen Klasset, secretary to Superintendent Jenkins, hands the telephone to Mr. Harold Hewitt, secretary for the city schools.

Maintenance supervisor Harvey Huffman is in charge of all school vehicles and supplies.

advocates progress, expansion

With the completion of Grandview Junior High, one of the School Board's activities this year was to authorize future expansion at Hickory High. The plans include a new commercial department, library, and gymnasium.

Jimmy Pritchard, Vin Williams, and Joe Belk survey the plans for the proposed additions to Hickory High.

FACULTY leads pressured life

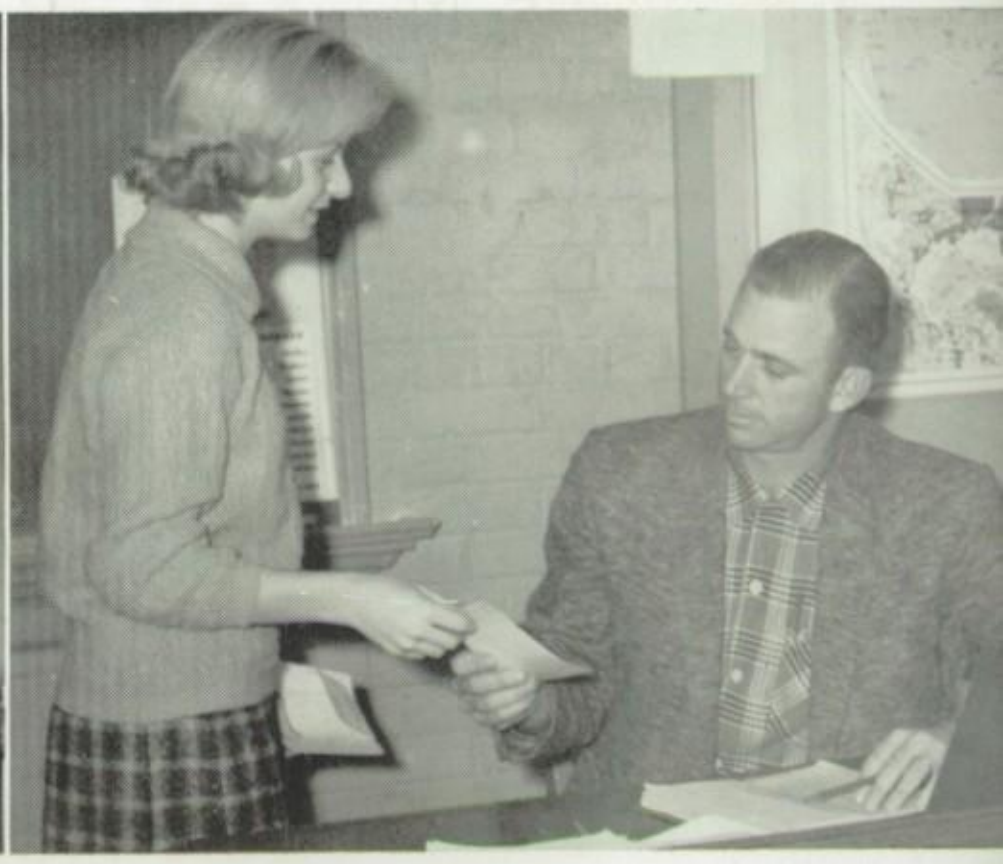
Commemorating Principal W. D. Cottrell's twenty-fifth year, former student body president John Frye presents him a gift and a check from the students and the community.

Coach Washam registers surprise as Faith Hayes gives him a movie pass for F.T.A. Teacher Appreciation Day.



Besides teaching, composing tests, grading papers and keeping students' records, a teacher's day involves advising a club or publications staff, counselling students, serving on lunch line or bus duty, and attending P.T.A. meetings. In spite of illnesses and injuries they perform such functions as directing plays and being officers in state and district organizations.

Respite from a harried day comes at a very short lunch period and the five-minute breaks between classes. However, most teachers will agree that the work is worth much more than the recognition they receive.

Mrs. Carson listens to Faith Hayes try out for the Junior Class play.

Partially disabled by a broken wrist, Mrs. Cilley doesn't give up and is still willing to give advice to a questioning history student, Danny Campbell.

Miss Nancy Usrey performs one of a teacher's many services—bus duty.

Qualified FACULTY—Walking Textbooks

Celebrating his twenty-sixth year as principal, W. D. Cottrell continues to improve the facilities and educational program of Hickory High. A graduate of V.P.I. and Appalachian State Teachers College, he shows a genuine interest in the future of his students.

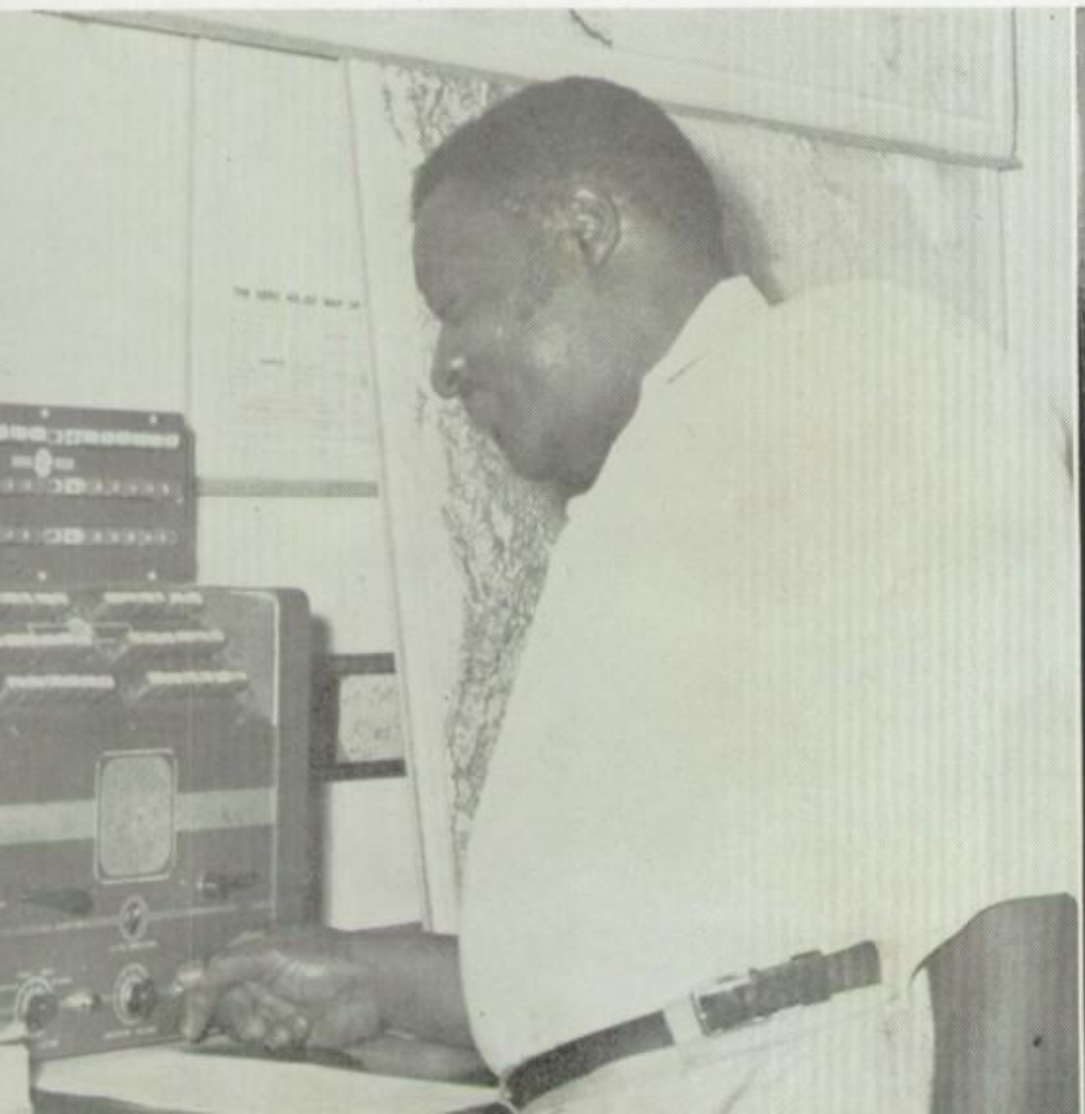
Help Plan Students' Careers and Futures

First row: Lunchroom Staff: Florence Frederick, Bessie Suddreth, Josephine James.
Second row: Janitors: George Finger, Albert Reed, Arthur Mackey, Richard Redman.

Lunchroom Staff and Janitors make school run smoothly

George Finger is a favorite of all students because he dismisses the classes for lunch.



Albert Reed sweeps the hall between the rushes of changing classes.

BIOLOGY, required by the state, is an interesting subject for Caldwell Seagle and Bruce Pope—especially dissecting grasshoppers.

ENGLISH is taken for three years at HHS. Mrs. Kathryn Havnaer and her son Donnell, a Grandview Junior High teacher, attend a meeting of city English teachers.

Of the basic courses at Hickory High, English is required every year. In order to get his diploma, a student must also have passed biology and U. S. history. Geometry and a foreign language, most frequently Spanish, is on the schedule of the majority of HHS students. Though the phys. ed. requirement is met at junior high, a second year course is often valuable.

SPANISH students John Motley and Joe Lineberger turn in projects in connection with their language study.

For U. S. History, a subject required of all HHS juniors, Tim Keck's project was an unfolding board containing the flags of all the United Nations' member countries.

BASIC courses—required and elective

Physical Education classes warm up with exercises before using the trampoline and climbing apparatus.

Geometry is one of the basic subjects studied by Sharon Beaty and John Yeager.

In Homemaking Martha Whitener and Mary Helen Stasavich learn proper care and cleaning procedure for kitchen utensils.

Practical skills taught at Hickory High help industrial arts students learn to use complicated machinery in electronics and woodworking. Culinary art and sewing skills are developed in homemaking. Driver's training enables a student to handle an automobile properly and to become a safe driver. Musical talents are refined in band and chorus.

Band student Willie Wright uses his study hall for an individual practice session.

Chorus students perform with the Albemarle chorus for a chapel program.

DRIVER'S TRAINING can now be taught indoors as well as in an actual car on this new machine demonstrated by Eric Shuford.

PRACTICAL subjects develop talents, skills

IN SHOP Gene Wright works skillfully as he turns a table leg on a lathe.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS student James Phillips assembles a bunk bed with the assistance of John McKee, during shop class.

SHORTHAND, Mrs. Ellen Sikes demonstrates on the board, requires perfection in techniques.

Afternoons find D.E. and D.O. students behind counters in downtown stores and behind machines in Hickory's industrial concerns. At school, future secretaries and accountants learn the bookkeeping systems, how to take dictation by shorthand, and how to correctly type the all-important business letter in carbon copies.

Tomorrow's BOOKKEEPING lesson is explained by Mrs. Peggy Triplett to her practice teacher, Mr. Olin Wilson of Lenoir Rhyne College.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION student Kenneth Hilton works in a local manufacturing concern in the afternoon.

JOB PREPARATION courses attract future wage-earners

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS students study each morning about the jobs they perform in the afternoon and evening.

LATIN is not dead according to Sylvia Teague and Martin Violette who are displaying valentines, lettered in Latin, made by first and second year students.

CHEMISTRY experiments are recorded in their manuals by Lynda Stack and Jean Taylor.

For those who have college in mind, there are college preparatory courses in English and French which give the student a necessary foundation for his college work. Solid geometry, trigonometry, physics and chemistry prepare future scientists and engineers. Latin, taken by some future collegians, is a stepping-stone to English vocabulary, a history lesson, and a good mental exercise as well.

TRIGONOMETRY is studied carefully by Jeffrey Marlowe in preparation for college and tomorrow's exam.

College French students find that this small third-year class can study the language and literature extensively although they must meet with a second-year class.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY courses, more extensive learning

College English student Rose Mary Hardy and English Teachers' Council President Miss Burns admire the certificate which Rose Mary won in the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards.

CLASSES, ACTIVITIES ARE CONSTANT PRESSURE ON

TODAY'S youth must be a teen-age adult—to win the favor of his teachers, a young diplomat—to calm the anxieties of his parents and the community, a junior executive—to take a responsible part in HHS club activities, a licensed chauffeur—to transport his friends to club meetings and lunch, a pint-sized Einstein—to pioneer into world of science and theory, a model Jim Thorpe—to win conference titles.

However, the long hours of toil still in no way dim the fun and excitement that will be remembered through the years to come.

STUDENTS

ONE MUST SIMPLY IGNORE

THE BOYS AT THE LOWER GATE!

Many things to do and little time to do them

Loaded down with books, Hickory High students await the morning bell.

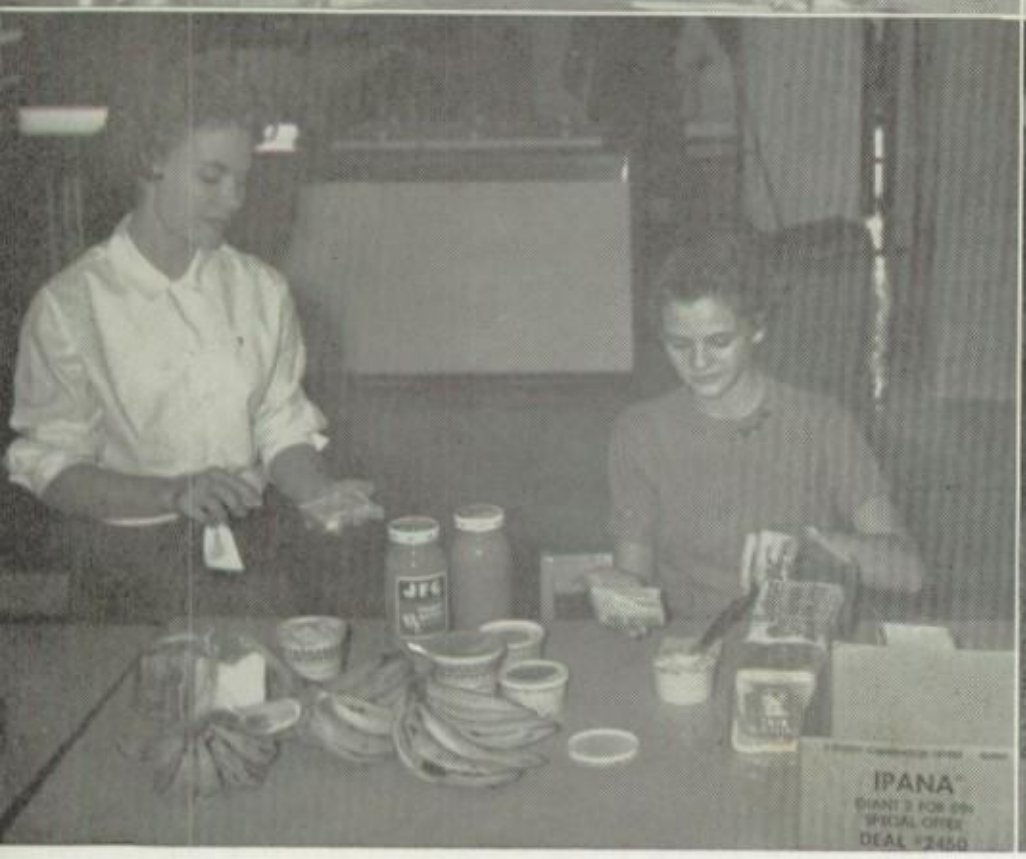
Instruction at the Elbert Ivey Memorial Library is a new part of the sophomore English classes. Here, Mrs. Stemple shows the location of books to Mrs. Havnaer's class.

Two of the HHS Cheerleaders, Edie Geitner and Jane Webb Burns, perform their weekly task, raising the American flag in front of the school.

Looking toward the big day, Lanny Abee and Neill Clark place orders for their Senior graduation announcements.

Realizing a silly mistake, Judy Howard laughs after Mrs. Reese explains the simple solution.

Busily working in art class, several of Mr. Rankin's students deftly create beautiful mosaics.



"How many peanut butter and how many cheese do we need?" asks Thesta Bowman as she and Kay Snider make sandwiches for hungry football players.

Boys interested in future college days discuss with a College Day representative the possibility of going to Mars Hill.

OFFICERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS

With their plans for the Graduation and Baccalaureate services, the Senior class officers undertook their most important job and at the same time ended four pleasant, work-filled years of high school life. President Keith Teague prepared his graduation speech as his last duty. Throughout the year he was assisted in selling class pins and organizing the Senior play by Vice-President Larry Poteat and Secretary-Treasurer Barbara Hefner.

OFFICERS OF THE JUNIOR CLASS

Producing their second first-place homecoming float and a memorable Junior-Senior prom was fun and hard work for junior class President Jack Bass; Vice-President Frances Fickling; and Andrea Drum, Secretary-Treasurer.

They also helped supervise the Junior play—establishing committees and taking care of various last-minute details—and collected dues to finance their projects.

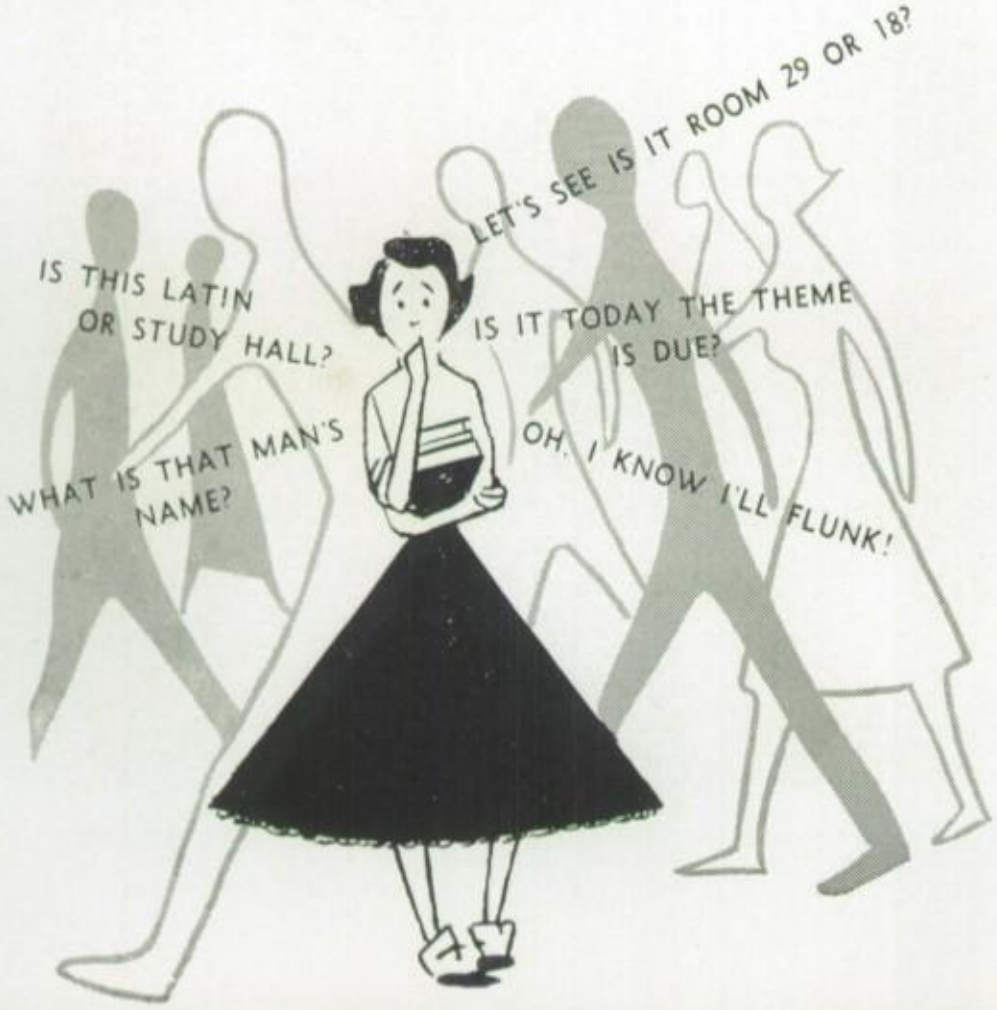
BREWER SILLS SHEPHERD



OFFICERS OF THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Helping adjust new students to Hickory High and planning the Sophomore float are two of the duties of the Sophomore Class officers. President Ernest Sills, Vice-President William Shepherd and Secretary-Treasurer Kay Brewer and their float committee built the second-place homecoming float in 1958 with their Fountain of Victory theme.

Participation in Hickory High's activities plays a major part in the lives of many sophomores and their officers.

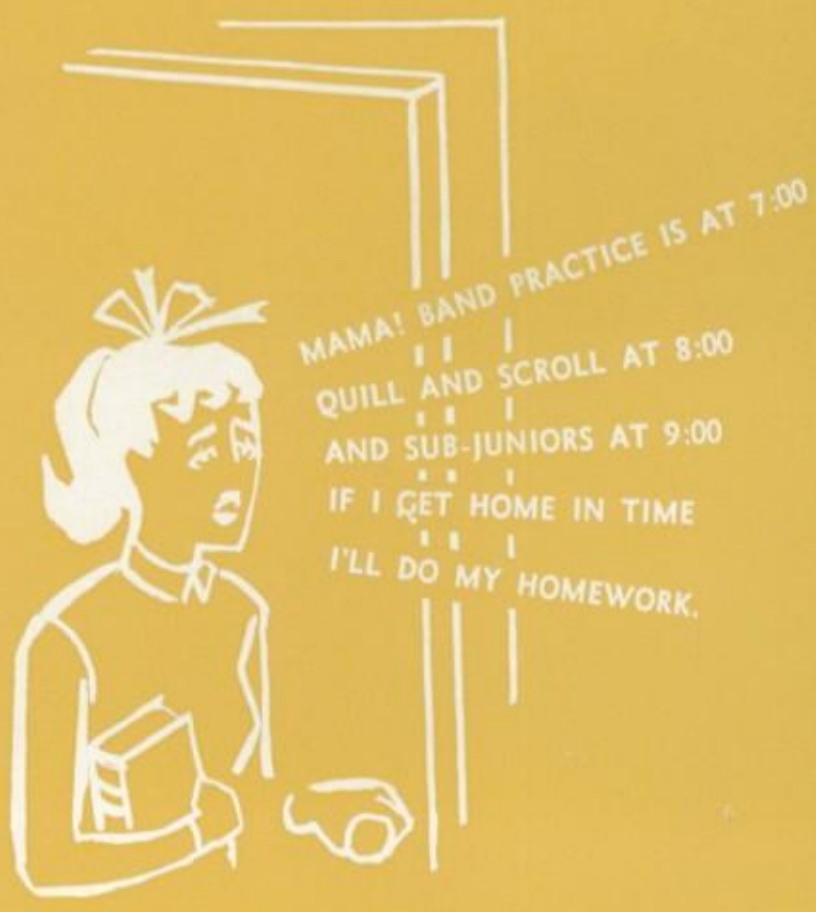
MANY IMPROVEMENTS FOR SCHOOL—
RESULT OF WORK OF CLUB

ACTIVITIES

PRESSURES placed on H. H. S. club participants are more than "which pin shall I wear today?" or "how will I ever raise enough money to pay the dues?"

The greatest responsibility for the success of projects is the students. Their ideas must raise the money to finance scholarships for deserving students, the paving of the parking lot, improvements for the school dark room facilities and a successful Homecoming.

Long hours of hard work produce successful concerts, art exhibits, conventions, and banquets, —but in spite of the complaints and callouses, the long hours of toil will be remembered as fun.



Rushing, meeting, selling, working, worrying

East meets West, North meets South, and all have a wonderful time at the AFS weekend sponsored by the French Club.

The hour of graduation is close at hand. Junior marshals await the arrival of relatives, friends, and finally—the class of '58.

It's "Radio Day" and student announcers Neill Clark and David Erwin take over the "mike."

Ending a year of hard work for Publications staffs and the Quill and Scroll Society, the annual Quill and Scroll banquet was held featuring speaker Kays Gary, Charlotte Observer writer and journalist.

Landon Walker and Sam Harmon put in extra hours of work on festival music to help get a high rating for HHS.

Peggy Baker, Christine Rowe, and Tommy Hailey work on Mosaics, one of the eight mediums of HHS art department.

Planning, laughing, eating, practicing - - - clubs.

One of the main projects of the Student Council is the sponsoring of HHS elections. Linda Newton and Gunyuz Acar are running off ballots for one of the many votings.

Promoting a wholesome school spirit and forwarding student government are the two main functions of the busy Student Council. Their main project this year was the raising of funds to pave the parking lot behind the school. This budget was met by selling HHS T-shirts, programs at the football games, and chocolate. Other important duties given to the Council were the feeding of hungry football players after a hard-fought game, being in charge of all major elections held within HHS, and supervision of plans for Homecoming. Delegates from the Student Council attended the State Student Council Convention held in Chapel Hill.

Top Students Named By H. R. REPRESENTATIVES

Writing down the names to be submitted as boy and girl of the month from each of their homerooms are representatives Becky Conrad, Becky Deal, and Steve Lineberger.

Combining to form a lower house, Homeroom Representatives joined forces with the Student Council in the sale of chocolates. Nerves of the representatives were taut the day before Christmas holidays as they gathered to total the sales money. For several weeks they had carried bags of chocolate on top of the usual armload of books.

A new project for the group this year was the sponsoring of a boy and girl of the month selected on the basis of outstanding personality, character traits, and participation in school activities.

JUNIOR MARSHALS Usher in New Setting

Chief Marshals Henry Harrison and Rose Mary Hardy anxiously await the time to lead the class of '58 to their diplomas.

Junior Marshals, who are taken from the junior members of the Beta Club, play a very important role during graduation. Each marshal ushers, distributes programs, and attends to other duties at the Baccalaureate sermon and the Commencement exercises. A marshal is chosen for his high principles, scholastic ability, and his leadership capability. The two chief marshals, selected for their outstanding scholastic achievements, lead the Seniors to receive their diplomas.

An additional thrill for the '58 marshals was performing their duties in the spacious and beautiful P. E. Monroe Auditorium, where the additional seating capacity allowed the attendance of friends of the graduates as well as the seniors' entire families.

Teen-Age Panel Sponsored By QUILL & SCROLL

Raising money to buy a trophy case for the many journalistic trophies was one of the main projects of the Quill and Scroll, a national honorary society for high school journalists. The proceeds from the Halloween Masquerade Ball which the club sponsored went for this purpose. Among the other new projects was the keeping of an alumni file and sponsoring of a panel on "Teenage Problems." The views of this panel were published monthly in the Hickory Daily Record. In the Spring the club sponsored the Twirp Dance and Hickory Daily Record Day when the members published the city paper. Climaxing the year was the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet. Here trophies were presented to outstanding members of the club.

Awards for the "clemmiest clems" are given to Miriam Green and Charles Ellington at the annual Twirp Dance. Ronald Cook is presenting the awards.

LOG Again Becomes Triple Threat By Sweeping

Two national awards and an S.I.P.A. trophy made the Log staff a "triple threat" again this year.

Film, paper, flash bulbs, write-ups, and a group of busy students fill the Log room each day fifth period as work continues toward the final goal—the Log. Last minute snap shots, running heads, and a pile of picture captions—the sophomore special—slowly fall into place to form the award winner. All members take part in picking the book's theme, colors, and a dedicatee.

The long-awaited "Log Day" is a surprise to everyone but those on the staff as Shirley Harrison and Jerry Huffman present the 1958 annual.

National and Southern Honors

Rushing around during those hectic fall days, the members of the Log Business staff were kept busy selling ads to Hickory area businesses. Distributing class pictures in the Spring is another of its important functions. This year the business staff took on extra work by joining the Twig business staff in selling ads for the Quill and Scroll's main project, the student directory. Members of the staff climaxed a year of hard work by distributing the 1958-'59 Log.

There's always the tough job—make-up. Jean Yoder, editor-in-chief, works during fifth period and many hours after school on the Twig's layout.

Twig staffers cut short their summer vacation this year to present students with an edition of HHS's newspaper, the Twig, on the first day of school. Published bi-weekly, it informs the students and community of local and school news. New features include a book review column, a series of "know your Hickory" articles, and a humor column, the "Hickory Hiccups." This year the Twig won the All American rating in the National Scholastic Press Association and the trophy as best newspaper at Southern Interscholastic Press meet in Virginia.

TWIG Rates Trophy

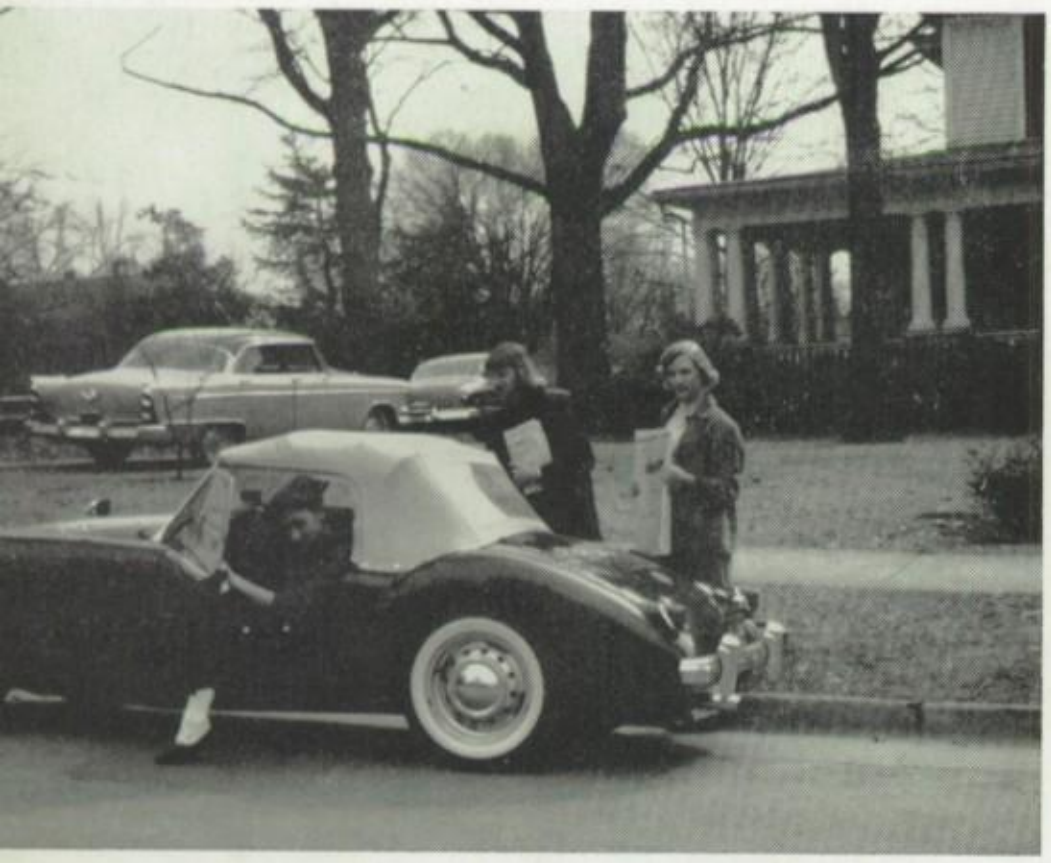
Sally Todd, Donna Abee, and Irma Scott are off to sell ads for the next issue of the Twig.



Powers of persuasion came in "mighty handy" to Twig business members as they canvassed the town each week selling advertisements to finance HHS's two-hundred-dollar-per-issue paper. Throughout the year approximately two hundred subscriptions were taken in. In addition, sixty-five copies of the Twig were exchanged bi-weekly with other schools and mailed to former students who subscribed. On the Thursday night before the paper came out members met to fold the paper and to make plans for its distribution.

RADIO STAFF Operates WIRC For One Day

"On the air," Sarah McCurry and Linda Deal present HHS news and a feature of the week.

"Hickory High Speaks," the weekly half-hour program of news, sports, a Senior Personality, and a feature of interest to the students and the community, is presented by the Radio Staff each Saturday during the school year.

The staff sponsored Radio Day at which time they operated Radio Station WIRC for one day. This involved selling and writing advertisements as well as conducting programs.

Each summer two staff members attend the Radio-TV Institute at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

These "air specialists" beamed with pride when they won the trophy at the S. I. P. A. convention.

Fifth Anniversary Celebrated By LEAVES

Short stories, poems, and drawings compose Hickory High's literary magazine, the Leaves, and expose the inner emotions of the students who write them. This year the Leaves staff published an issue featuring a "new look" in lively art style.

This five-year-old magazine is a member of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association, and in April, 1958, won an Honor Award at the SIPA convention.

Members not only publicize and edit the magazine, they also finance it by selling advertisements and holding bake sales.

Trick or Treats Pay Off for KEY CLUBbers*

Conventions cost money and Key clubbers attend conventions. Here Johnny Brown collects the fee for a trip to an Asheville convention from Willard Black, Hoppy Huffman and Marion Kirby.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Hickory, the Key Club, a junior civic organization, is composed of sophomore, junior and senior boys. All applicants must be approved unanimously.

Projects for this year were the selling of Hallowe'en trick or treats and the distributing of light bulbs. During March, four delegates from Hickory High attended the Carolina District Convention held at Asheville, North Carolina.

At the Forest City Convention, Hickory was represented by three delegates.

Outstanding Students Compose BETA CLUB

Students with outstanding scholastic achievements, leadership, and character are recognized at Hickory High with membership in the Beta Club, a national organization. Gold seals for diplomas as well as the Beta Club Journals were provided by the club.

This year the members worked to award letters to students attaining a certain scholastic average. They also contributed to the National Beta Loan fund for deserving students.

LATIN CLUB Visits Superior Court

Here's one more case for the files. George Moretz, Don Hammersla, Nancy Shuford and Pat Cauble, Latin Club members, prepare to leave for superior court in Newton.

Creating interest in classical literature and language among students is the main purpose of the Iota Chi Society, HHS's Latin Club. Members are chosen on the basis of a sincere interest in the language and a good scholastic average. The club is a member of both the National Junior Classical and the State Junior Classical League.

Culminating the study of Roman Law, the Latin Club visited the Superior Court in Newton to contrast America's court procedure with that of the ancient Romans. Near the Ides of March they attended the State Latin Club Convention in Chapel Hill.

FRENCH CLUB Strengthens Foreign Relations

International Weekend, sponsored by the French Club for the American Field Service students of the Piedmont area, was a big local step toward better relations among countries throughout the world. Parents and friends volunteered homes and transportation to make the occasion a success, and French Clubbers sold potato chips to finance both this project and special activities for HHS's own AFS student Gunyuz Acar of Turkey. For the first time, applications were made this year by several students for the winter AFS program in New Zealand and Europe. Club meetings keep members posted, not only on student activities around the world, but also on French personages, artists, and government processes.

BAND Collects Highest Marching and Concert Honors

Putting their best feet forward, HHS majorettes prepare to lead the band onto the field at halftime.

Highlighting a year of hard work for HHS band members will be a trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, in June as guests of the Chamber of Commerce. The high spot of the trip will be a concert in the band shell on the beach.

Parents of band members, organized into a band boosters club, sold tickets to the N. C. State band concert to help finance the Florida trip in the spring.

High praise and a superior rating came to the group and their leader, Lewis Bean, as a result of their performance in the state band contest.

For three consecutive years the band has brought home honors in the realm of concert music, but this year they also won the highest honors in marching from the Southern Band Festival in Bristol, Va.-Tenn.

A month before school started band members began practicing for this contest.

On April 4 the group represented the state at the Southern Division of Music Educators as the only high school band in the state chosen to appear at Roanoke, Virginia.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Ellis, the mixed chorus and the girls' and boys' glee clubs combined to present numerous programs for various civic clubs, and at Christmas the choral members joined the H.H.S. Band to present the annual Christmas concert.

Representatives were elected to attend a clinic at Mars Hill in the early Spring and to sing in the all-state chorus at Woman's College in Greensboro, North Carolina.

During the summer outstanding students were sent as delegates to the North Carolina State Choral Workshop, conducted at East Carolina Teacher's College.

These groups earned superior ratings in district contests.

LIBRARY CLUBber's big chore—record keeping

Inquiring about a book, Sophomore Sandra Cline is being aided by student librarian, Mary Buchanan.

Student assistants in the library find much of their day involves records of all types, ranging from number of students in the library for each period to number of books read by each student. The latter is a school-wide record making available to each student the titles of books he has read and to the library an indication of reading interests. For library users the club members perform many services, freeing the librarian of many chores so that she can conduct classes in library use. Clubbers took one day's leave of absence when they attended the state library association meeting at North Rowan High.

Eight different mediums studied by ART CLUB

Crowds gathered in the halls to return the cool stares of the grotesque masks and to admire oil paintings, block printing and other displays of the Hickory High Art Club. This year eight different mediums were studied by the group plus a new phase, Turkish mosaics, introduced by HHS foreign exchange student, Gunyuz Acar.

As a special project, five of the club members painted an abstract mural on one of the classroom walls.

In February several club members entered competition sponsored by the Woman's Club at the Hickory Art Museum.

Substituting, guiding prepare FUTURE TEACHERS

Busy F.T.A. members, Kathy Hollar, Linda Newton, Judy Yount and Jane Burns find students' schedules for visiting parents during Open House.

Gaining experience for their future work is one of the main objectives of the F.T.A. members. In the fall, when the N.C.E.A. district meeting was held in Hickory, the Dixon-McComb Chapter of the Future Teachers of America undertook the job of directing the delegates and taking charge of the information desk at the front hall. Similarly, at open house during American Education Week, members showed interested visitors around the school. Substituting for absent teachers and working at the information desk were two other important duties of the club members.

Family adopted by FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

Everyone looked twice when Future Homemakers wore their own creations to school last Fall, and again in the Spring they displayed their talents for sewing in an evening fashion show. The club held numerous bake sales and sold Christmas cards to raise money for their varied activities.

Helping their adopted family at Christmas with gifts of toys, food, and clothing was their yearly project. A district rally of Future Homemakers held in Asheville attracted a bus-load of excited Hickory delegates.

Lynn Hall, Ginger Speagle, and Steve Lineberger help to support one of the Garden Club's goals, beautifying the grounds of HHS.

Membership of the Garden Club was enlarged greatly this year. As hundreds of HHSers tramped across the grass and slowly marred the appearance of the school, the garden club members followed close behind beautifying the high school grounds.

During various holidays, flowers and dried arrangements were placed in the school to add a note of festivity. Members were instructed in the art of growing and arranging flowers.

Difficulties in arranging meeting times and locations limited some of the activities of this group.

Each year the Sub-Junior Woman's Club of HHS awards a one hundred dollar scholarship to help in education of a worthy college student. Therefore, the year's work is planned around financing this project.

The largest and main money-making activity sponsored by the group was the "powder bowl game," a football bout between the Junior and Senior club members—which was won by Seniors.

Members served on ticket, advertising and decoration committees for the Tri-County Heart Fund Drive and conducted a school-wide election for a Queen of Hearts.

Parents of HHS students work hand in hand with the PTA representatives. Here, Mrs. Robert Engart, PTA president, discusses organizational plans with other members.

P. T. A. leaders stimulated an exceptionally active group this year. Interesting programs followed efficient business meetings during which such projects as financing school band trips, refurnishing teachers' lounge, and rebuilding old stage sets were planned.

Representing each homeroom, the PTA representatives act as a link between the Parent-Teachers Association and the student body. In the early fall the students are in charge of the membership drive; throughout the year they call to remind parents of the monthly meetings. Attending these meetings and reporting news of interest to the students are other duties of the representatives.

For one or two hours each morning classes are held. Each student is required to spend a minimum of fifteen hours per week in practical work experience in approved training agencies during the afternoon.

Highlighting the year is the annual Bosses' Banquet, at which the students' employers are honored, and following the Baccalaureate sermon, a supper is held for the graduating class members with the underclassmen as hosts.

GRUELING PRACTICES, EXCITING WINS,
HEARTBREAKING DEFEATS:

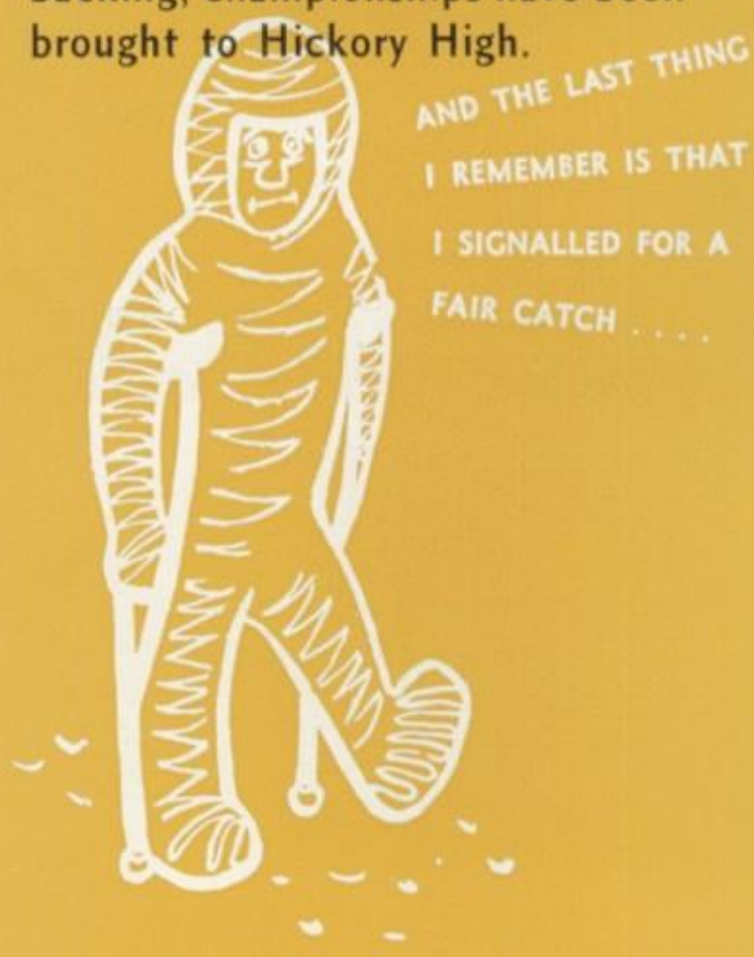
ATHLETICS

COMPLEXITIES in high school athletics are greater today than ever before because of the extensive amount of time spent in practice and in studying films of past games.

H.H.S. coaches attend clinics to learn new plays and practice methods. Cheerleaders devise new cheers and lead the spectators in supporting the teams. Shakers and "Go Tornadoes" badges are made and distributed among students. Transportation to out-of-town games must be arranged for the teams and cheerleaders.

Before games the fields must be checked, the lines drawn, the court cleaned and the track smoothed. Uniforms and equipment must be clean and in safe condition.

With team co-operation, student support and organizational backing, championships have been brought to Hickory High.



Full athletic program,

George Finger, a central figure in HHS sports events for the past 24 years, drives the Tornado teams to out-of-town games in the activity bus.

Offensive coaches, Richard Brittain and Willard Black, give instructions to quarterback Scottie Sue Gadd as defensive coach Steve Lineberger looks on during Powder Puff Bowl.

Because of the full program supported by Hickory High's athletic department and the limited space in which to carry out this program, the key word in athletics this year was confusion. The field was used for almost everything from scheduled baseball games to polishing the band's marching maneuvers. Thus the coaches, players, and George Finger were kept busy with a familiar task: shifting the lines on the field, moving the benches, and driving the teams in the activity bus. The strain on HHS facilities was somewhat alleviated, however, since football games were played at College Field and basketball games at the Community Center. In spite of the confusion and pressure, the department carried out its program of seven sports—football, boys' and girls' basketball, wrestling, golf, track, tennis, and baseball.

Men of many talents and many activities: COACHES

Coaches at Hickory High lead lives filled with the demands of their work, the excitement of games, the feeling of achievement when teams are victorious, and the dejection of a taste of defeat.

Though coaching involves drills after school, scouting opposing teams, and attending games after teaching a full day, their efforts are not confined to the one, two or more particular sports which each coaches. Everyone helps with the seven sports and jayvee teams.

CHEERLEADERS inspire teams, good sportsmanship

Boosting the teams by leading exciting cheers and promoting good sportsmanship among the students are the principal aims of the ten Hickory High cheerleaders.

Other duties include publicizing games, holding pep rallies, raising and lowering the school flag each day, and decorating College Field for homecoming. They also sell pennants and shakers to the students.

Richard Brittain, Coach Barger, and Tommy Hailey are justifiably proud of the trophies won by the Tornadoes, conference champions and the second place team in the association.

Hickory High's Red Tornado football squad brought home glory that has never been won by a past HHS team. By clinching the conference championship, the high-stepping Tornadoes also copped fourth place in the state AA high school ratings.

The Tornadoes compiled a perfect 8-0 Northwestern Conference record and a perfect regular season record of 10-0. In their eleventh game of the season they displayed a powerful ground attack and a stingy defense against Shelby, winning the W.N.C.H.S.A.A. Championship. The only loss of the year was against the Asheboro Blue Comets in the state Championship tilt at Salisbury.

Outstanding running from All-State junior halfback Larry Rudisill, and fine blocking and tackling on the part of All-State seniors, guard Richard Brittain and tackle Willard Black, contributed to the Tornadoes' brilliant 11-1 record.

At the annual football banquet, Tornado quarterback Hoppy Huffman, selected by his teammates, received the "Most Valuable Player of 1958" trophy. Senior linemen Richard Brittain and Willard Black were awarded the "Best Defensive Player" and "Best Blocker" trophies respectively. Junior end Charles Bock was voted "Best Sportsman" by his fellow players.

Spirited Tornadoes held Lenoir scoreless in their third game, winning 20-0. Richard Brittain and Steve Lineberger stood out on defense.

Tommy Hailey and Richard Brittain led the defensive team in the win over the Marion Rippers. Rudisill, Huffman, and Isenhour took scoring honors in the 27-6 win.

For their fifth consecutive win Hickory downed Newton 45-6. Larry Rudisill gained over 200 yards in the Homecoming tilt.

Their biggest offensive show of the year saw HHS romp over Taylorsville 52-0. Gene Isenhour gained 194 yards rushing for the Tornadoes.

The defensive team held Shelby to minus two yards rushing in a 14-7 victory. Rudisill scampers for both H.H.S.'s touchdowns in the Western Conference play-off game.

Heavy-lined Blue Comets of Asheboro handed H.H.S. its only loss by a score of 33-14 in the State AA Championship game. This ended a truly great season for the Red Tornadoes.

Conference Champions Again!

With only one starter from last year's team, HHS combined teamwork with hard practice and won the Northwestern Conference for the third consecutive year with a 12-4 conference record, and a 13-9 overall record.

The Tornadoes were semi-finalists in the Western Conference Tournament, in which Northwestern and Southwestern conference teams competed. After downing Forest City 40-38 in the first contest, the HHS lads lost a tightly played game to the Red Raiders from Belmont by 59-57. Hickory led in every period, but was beaten with five seconds to go in an overtime.

H.H.S. displays spirit under pressure

Leaping high in the air, Macijewski scores in the Hickory-Marion game.

The season opened with a strong triple-A Gastonia team, which proved too much for the Red Tornadoes as they bowed twice, 53-41 and 48-46. Shelby defeated HHS in two tilts, 53-44 and 50-49. Then the Tornadoes began to pick up speed by overpowering Wilkes Central 69-28 and 28-21.

Taylorsville's Bears defeated the Tornadoes 41-40 to end HHS's consecutive conference winning streak at 40 games.

Hickory defeated its arch rival Newton by scores of 49-37 and 40-34, and outclassed Marion in both tilts, 58-42 and 43-37.

Tourney Semi-Finalists

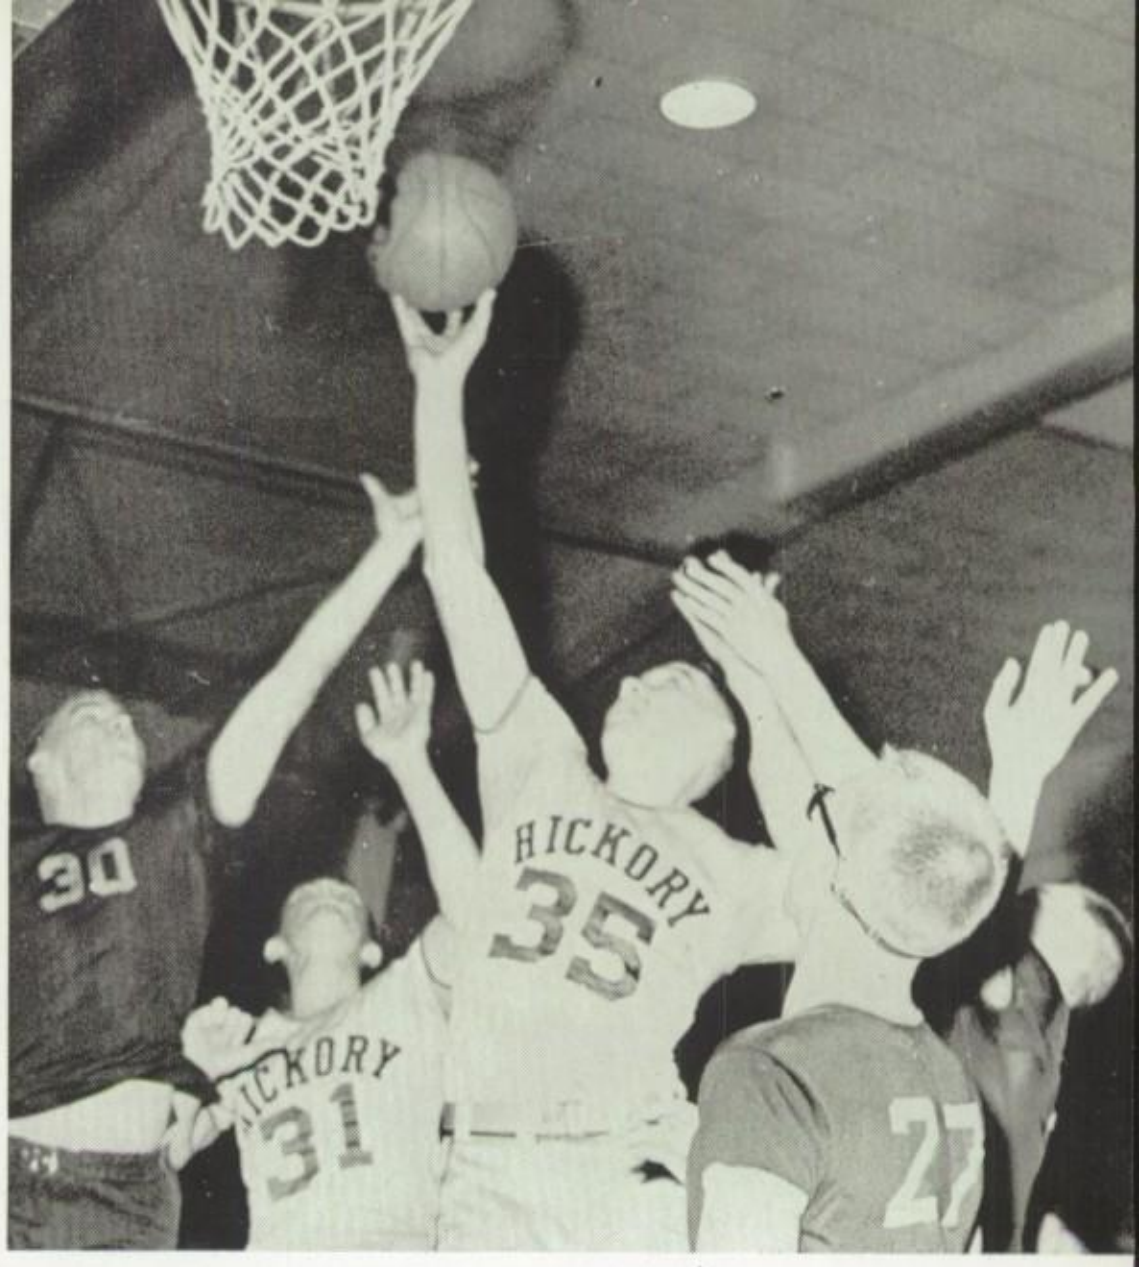
Grasping for a jump ball, Larry Poteat and Larry Phillips surround a Hudson player.

Morganton could give the strong team from Hickory little trouble as they went down to defeat twice by the scores of 45-28 and 72-41.

Hudson and Hickory met in a close first tilt with HHS winning 41-40, but losing the second 44-39.

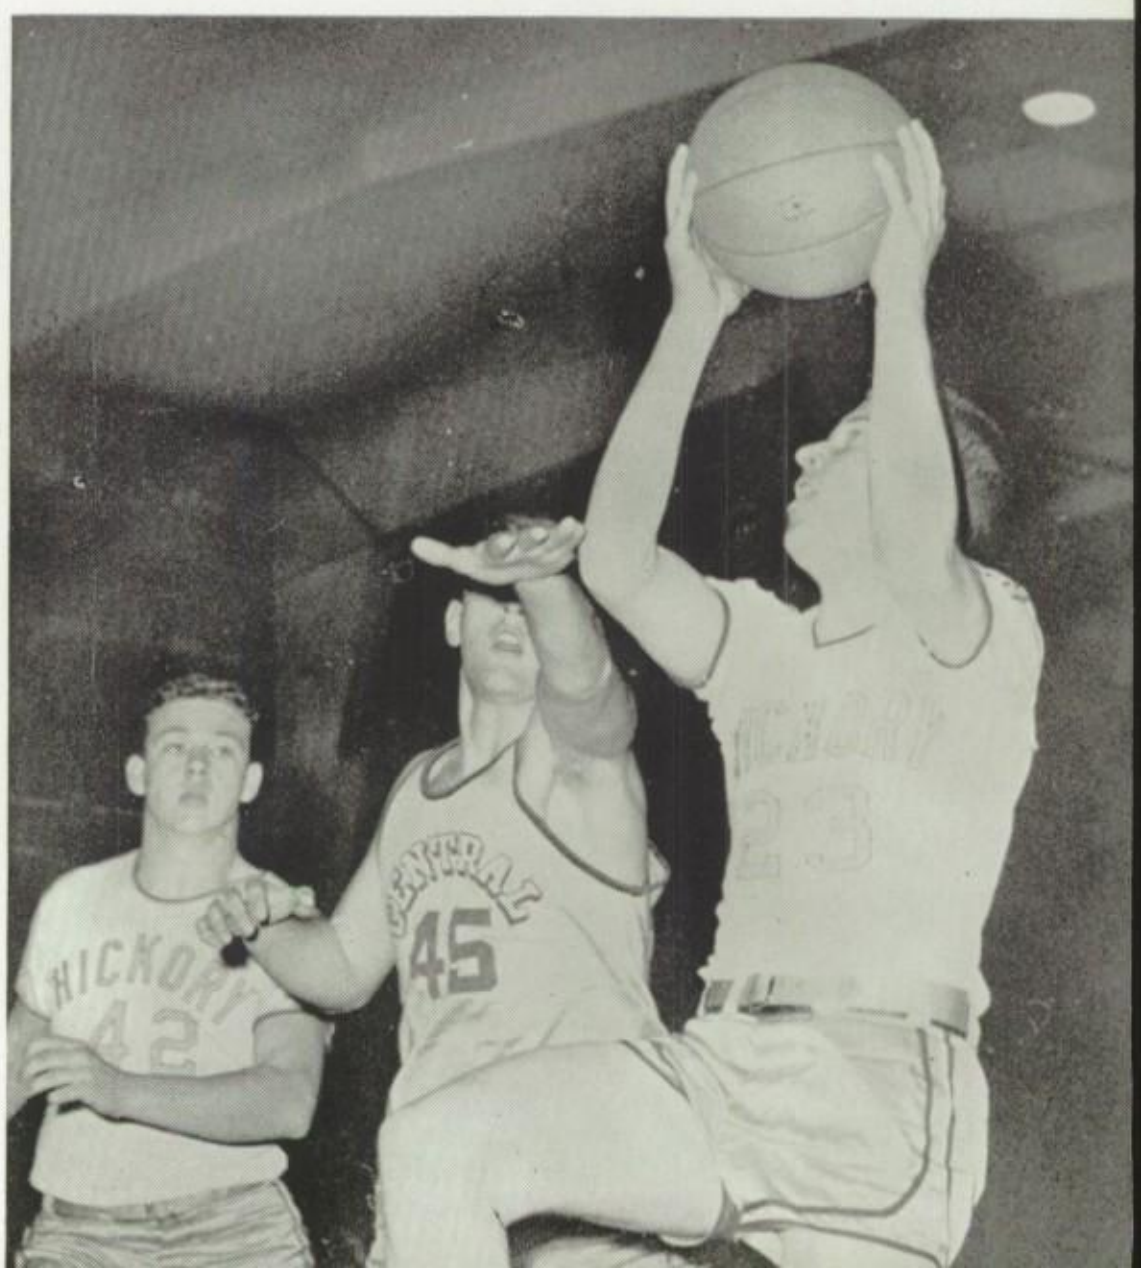
Lenoir proved to be Hickory's strongest conference opposition, but fell to defeat by the scores of 53-48 and 29-27. Team captain and guard Jimmy Power received All-Conference honors two years and was selected to the All-Tournament team.



Larry Poteat scores a last-minute basket to give the Tornadoes a close victory

Showed will to win

Despite Wilkes Central guarding, Jack Bass shoots as Danny Lonon stands by to help.



Co-Captains Linda Newton and Meredith Patton received both All-Conference and All-Tournament honors.

Girls' Cage Team— Third in Conference

Great spirit and teamwork inspired the Hickory High Tornadoettes to third place in the Northwestern Conference and were semi-finalists in tournament play. The Tornadoettes compiled an 11-5 conference record and a 14-6 season. They lost to a strong Taylorsville team in the District Tournament.

Senior forward and Co-Captain Linda Newton led all HHS forwards with an average of more than 20 points per contest. Co-Captain Meredith Patton led the guards on the HHS Squad. Newton and Patton received All-Conference honors and Newton was selected to play in the annual All-Star East-West game.

First row: J. Rudisill, P. Goode, C. Whitener, P. Woodard, B. Shuler, E. Geitner, L. Newton.
Second row: P. Campbell, B. Graham, M. Patton, L. Wilfong, K. Hollar, S. Baker.

Co-captain Linda Newton goes up to score two more points for the Tornadoettes.

Beth Shuler fires a long one-handed jump shot in closing minutes of the Morganton game.

Kathy Hollar passes to Libby Wilfong under the basket for an easy layup.

In a conference playoff, HHS's Tornadoes defeated Wilkes Central 4-1 to become Northwest Conference champions. However, they were defeated by Shelby of the Southwestern Conference in a district playoff. Coach Troy Washam's outstanding players for 1958 were David Murr, who was among the top high school pitchers in the state last year, and Ted Frye, who led the Hickory team in batting with 29 hits in 61 times at bat for a .475 average. Paul Swing and David Murr were elected to the All-State team. The regular season record was 14-2, while the Tornadoes' overall record was 15-3.

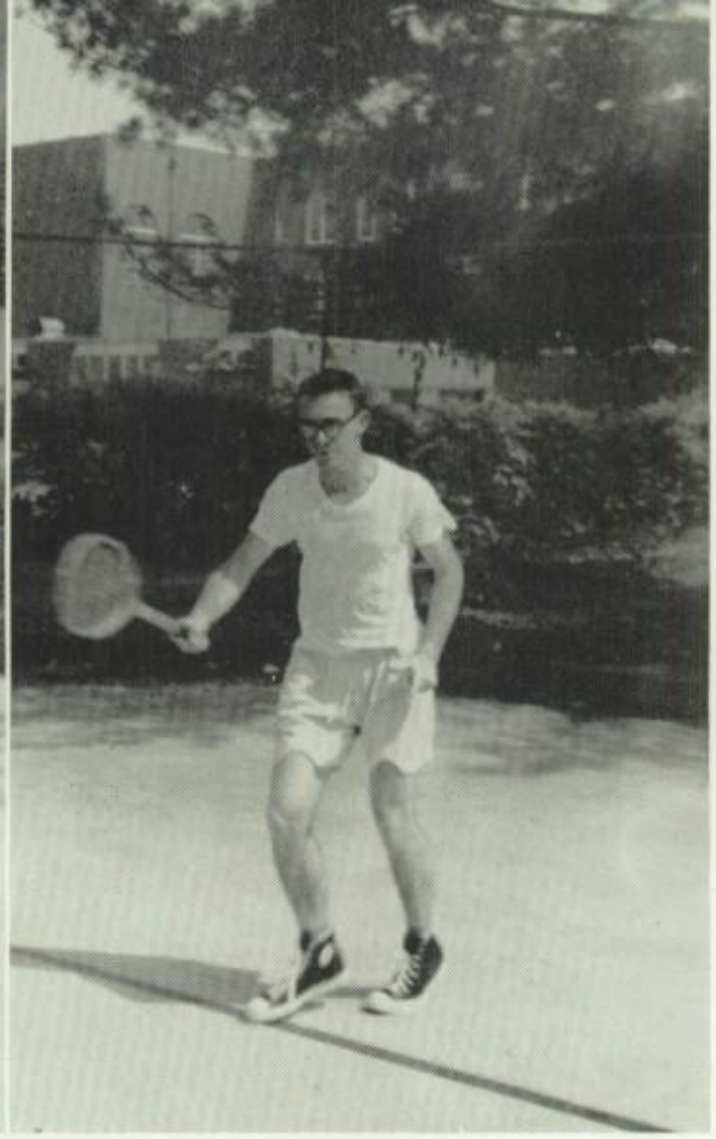
Defeat Wilkes Central for Title

Lawrence Gibbs returns a serve in an after school practice session.



John Frye slams the ball across the net to win a match for Hickory.

Coach Jim Garrett's golf squad ranked first among Western Conference teams with a 5-1 record. Undoubtedly this six-member team showed spirit, placing seventh in the North Carolina AA meet. The leading Tornado's golfer was Danny McRae, who won a total of 75 holes over his six opponents, while losing only 18. Bobby Isenhour was next with 60 holes won in six matches, holding his opponents to 23.

The tennis team showed much improvement under the able coaching of Gene Miller.

PLEASURES AMIDST THE MANY PRESSURES PROVIDED BY

LOOKING back on his high school days, a person remembers vividly those exciting events that made the years more meaningful and gave the days variety.

Anticipating these events seemed to make the many "pressures" more bearable. Conventions, the excitement of elections, homecoming and its last minute preparations, those enjoyable class plays, and the memory of graduation are only a few of the moments which will never be forgotten.

FEATURES

THEN THERE ARE THOSE STEPS AT THE BEAUTY CONTEST....

Miss Hickory High

Everyone at HHS participated in some way in the homecoming festivities—by playing on the team, working on floats, being in the parade, or by cheering when Mary Beth Wilson was crowned the 1958 Homecoming Queen by the Student Body President, Henry Harrison, during the half-time ceremonies.

Only a few hours away from the homecoming parade, Nancy Newton and Martha Lawing busily add the finishing touches to the Sophomore float.

Riding the Junior Class float to victory are truly lovely junior blossoms, Janet Woods, Peggy Campbell, Beverlee Bowles, and Alice Kiziah.

Homecoming festivities result of work-filled hours

Sisters and sponsors, Linda and Rosemary Newton dress for Homecoming.

Several days before the game cheerleaders meet to work out the cheers they will use.

CARROUSEL PRINCESS

Kathy Hollar, selected by the students of HHS to be their representative in the annual Carrousel Parade in Charlotte, awaits the parade in her hotel room.

MISS HI MISS

Scottie Sue Gadd attended a weekend at Winthrop College with other Miss Hi Misses from all over the Carolinas.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' STATE DELEGATES

Susan Cottrell and Jane Burns attended Girls' State to learn about their government while Bill Brandon attended Boys' State at U.N.C.

HONORS

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Cheerful and lively is Gunyuz Acar, our brunette, eighteen year old AFS exchange student from Turkey. Sports fans will never forget her leading the cheers to urge the team on towards victory. Honorary membership on the Student Council, in the French Club, Sub-Junior Woman's Club, and Art Club are only a few of the ways in which Gunyuz is participating in the activities of HHS. During the year, making speeches to various clubs and organizations in the community about her country, customs, and way of life is her duty as an exchange student. While here she is making her home with the J. E. Pughs and Bunny, her host sister.

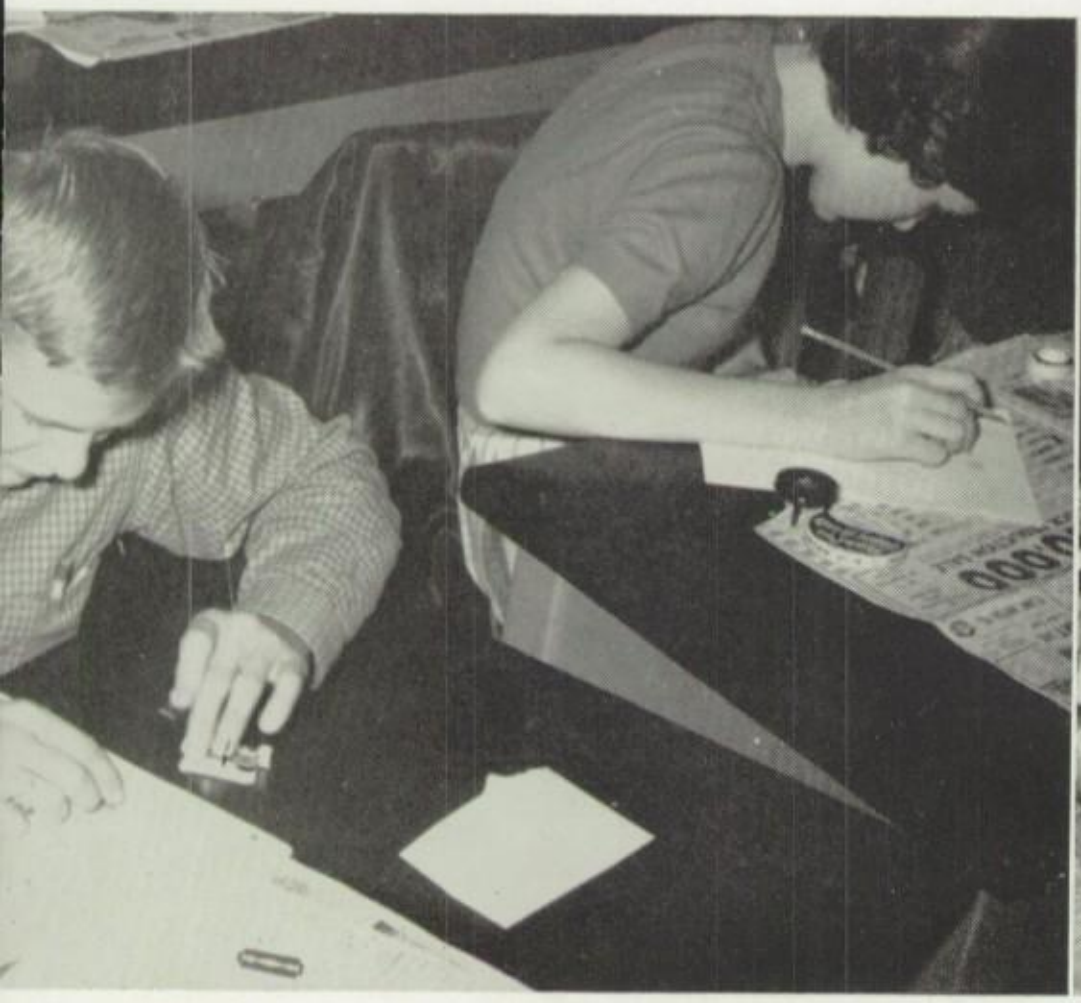
Raising the flag each morning is a familiar job to cheerleaders Edie Geitner and Nancy Newton.



Working with grasshoppers in biology is always a trial for squeamish students.

After earning another touchdown, HHS's football team is cheered on by the students' singing of "Dixie" and the waving of the Confederate flag.

Simple things bring fond memories

The hurried conversations in the hall, a quick lunch, the rush to finish homework, the confusion of changing class, a club meeting, and an exciting game after school are the simple things enjoyed by all HHS students.

When work is finished in sixth period study hall some people find it hard to stay awake until the bell rings.

One "little thing" that upset many was the arrival last Spring of Baby Girl Rankin—Here Miss Usrey administers first aid to Papa Bill.

Weary "Twig" staffers await the train which is to take them home after a week's visit in New York City while attending Columbia Interscholastic Press Association.

Conventions, banquets, and dances are

Among the gentlemen admiring Kay Williams, Queen of the Junior-Senior Prom, is Jerry Huffman, the King of the Prom.

Highlighting the school year are the various dances, banquets, and conventions in which all students participate. The main event of Fall was the Halloween Masquerade Ball which was held for the first time this year by the Quill and Scroll. Most of these activities take place in the Spring of the year. The Twirp Dance and the Junior-Senior Prom are the dances which are remembered by all. Many clubs hold banquets such as the D.E. and D.O. clubs' Bosses Banquet and the Quill and Scroll Banquet held for members of all the publications. The Art Club, Beta Club, Latin Club, D.E. Club, the publication staffs, Student Council, and many other clubs attend conventions.

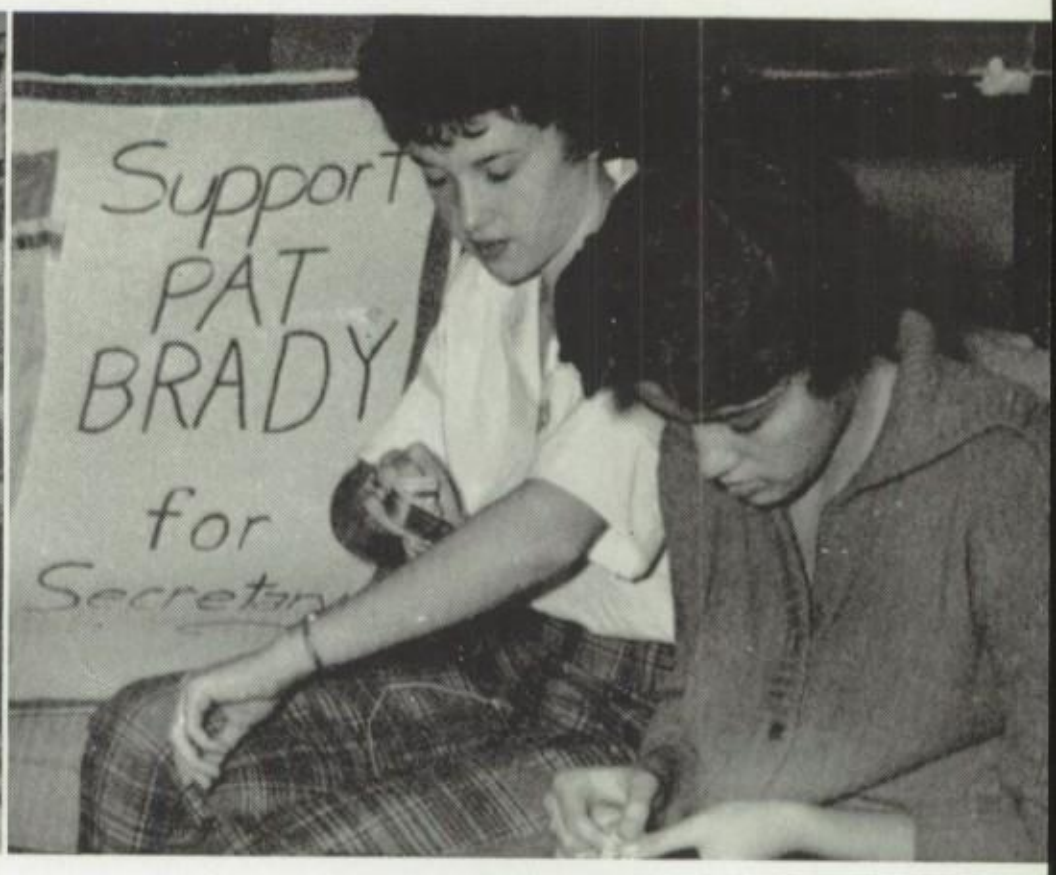
With water dripping from her hair, Mrs. Sigmon emerges without an apple at the Halloween Masquerade Ball.

These "clems" are enjoying square dancing at the annual Twirp Dance, especially since the girls have to do all the paying.

highlights of the year

Brenda Chester receives an award for her outstanding work on the "Leaves" staff from Mr. Cottrell at the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet.

Supporting Pat Brady for Secretary of the State Student Councils, Becky Deal helps Pat make arm bands for campaigning purposes at the convention.



Class plays—Opportunity to display talent

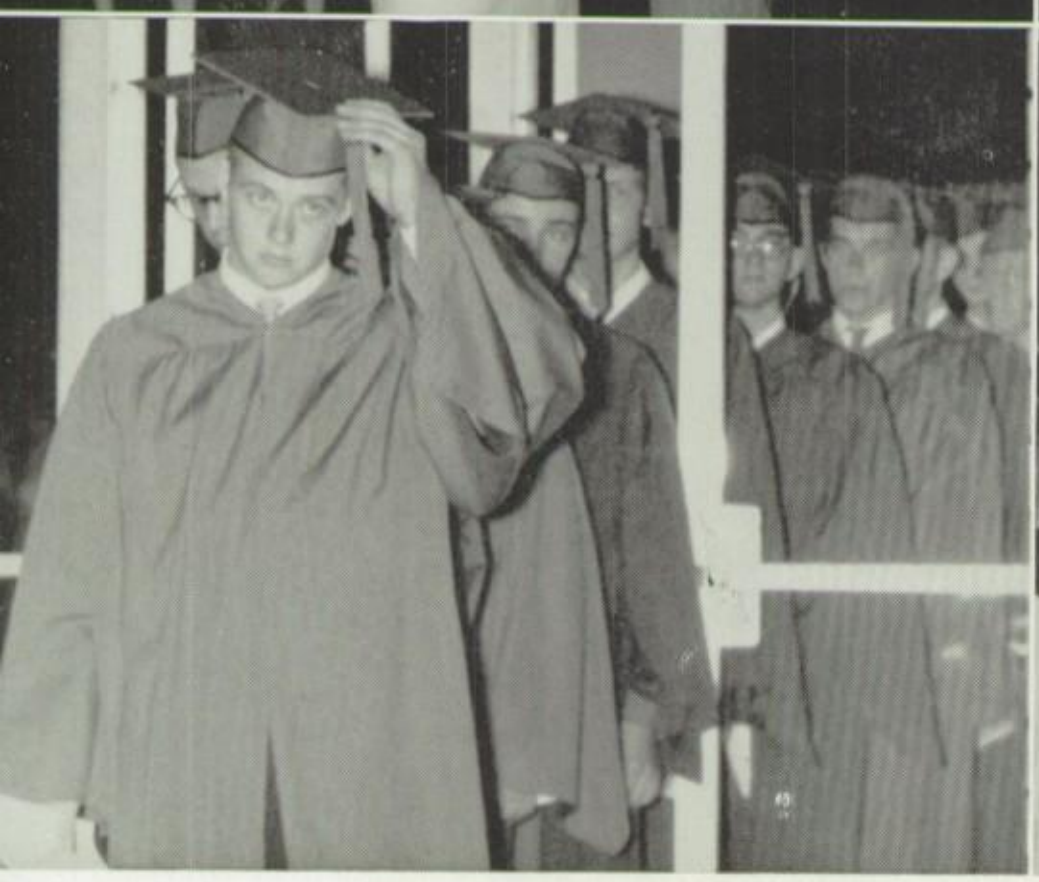
Class plays provide not only those students with acting ability an opportunity to perform, but they give other students a chance to work on sets, costumes, prompting, lights, and numerous other details connected with giving a play. The Junior play, "Professor, How Could You?", and the Senior play, "Junior Miss," were produced in order to finance class activities. The dramatics class aids in training these students.

Mary Beth Wilson and Neill Clark, stars in the Junior Class play, "Professor, How Could You?", are violently arguing over a "mild disagreement."

Helping Judy (Judy Bowles) try on her Christmas present is her mother, Kay Williams, while her sister, Jeanne Belk, looks on in the Senior Class Play, "Junior Miss."

Puzzled at the appearance of this "female" (Martin Violette), Neill Clark, the professor, ponders over the subject with Claudette Sears in the Junior play.

Overnight Judy emerges into a young lady from a little girl and is escorted to her first formal by Rick Moser in the Senior play.



First H.H.S. students not to graduate at H.H.S.!

Graduating seniors of 1958 were the first HHS students to graduate in the new P. E. Monroe Auditorium on the Lenoir Rhyne College campus. Holding the graduation there allowed many more people to attend. Dr. G. Othell Hand, the guest speaker for the evening, the participation of the band and chorus, and awards added to a very impressive ceremony.

Patsy McCallum, Junior Marshal, playfully envies Svein Tommerdal, a Senior, at graduation practice.

Scottie Sue Gadd, a Junior Marshal, leads parents to their seats in the P. E. Monroe Auditorium where HHS students are about to graduate.

Preparing to perform his last official act as President of the Senior Class, Lee Kanipe straightens his cap before leading his class to graduation.

Faculty members perform a last duty for the graduates —collecting caps and gowns. Miss Shore, right, adds to her armload of mortar boards.

ONE of Hickory High's many activities that must be financed is the Log, HHS's annual. Though handling the budget and keeping the books present problems and demand time, they provide valuable experience.

As Log staffers solicit advertisements, they learn about the city's varied businesses and become aware of the tremendous growth in manufacturing in North Carolina's "Best Balanced Town."
